

UNISON

the Water Industry
union for you

Water industry workers
get essential cover at work by joining UNISON
– the UK's leading trade
union.

UNISON is the leading union in the water industry.

We have strong membership across the water
industry in the UK.

Where we have members we have union reps who are always on hand to help you.

So if you need advice and support at work, legal help, financial assistance, debt advice and support
on workplace safety, UNISON has got it covered.

The UNISON helpline (0800 0 857857) is open until midnight. We also offer a range of exclusive member discounts that can save you and your family money.

Making a real difference

Having such a strong presence in the water industry, we make a real difference. UNISON negotiates to secure the best possible pay deals for employees, including allowances and the Living Wage. We always consult on the deals we negotiate because members' views are important to us.

We'll look after your pension. UNISON works hard to win the best deal on pensions for our members and our team of national experts deliver a superb service.

We know how important job security is – so our job is to protect your job. We work to secure employment opportunities and avoid compulsory redundancy wherever possible. Equality matters to us –our track record in fighting discrimination is second to none. We represent our members who are the victims of discrimination and work with employers to introduce better working practices to stamp this out across the industry.

Securing the future

As the largest trade union in the water industry, we know how important it is to build a secure environment and water security for everyone - employees and public alike. That's why we constantly use our influence with the people that matter, including, regulators, politicians, consumer groups and environmental organisations.
