

What is your health, your safety, your community, your family's care and education worth to you?

The government thinks public servants are only worth a pat on the back. And a real terms pay cut.

MPs debate public sector pay today at 4.30pm in Westminster Hall.

Stop and consider, what do public service workers mean to you?

Public sector pay has gone up by just 4.4% since 2010 while the cost of living has risen by 22%. That simply isn't fair.

The situation has reached breaking point with increasing numbers of public service workers leaving their vital jobs to earn more money. The services we cherish are under threat.

The government needs to Pay Up Now!

Watch the debate on parliamentlive.tv or UNISON's Facebook or Twitter.

