

stand up for social work

Join UNISON and stop accreditation

The government is pushing through plans to accredit children and family social workers in England – despite backlash from the profession and experts. UNISON is campaigning for the National Assessment and Accreditation System to be scrapped. Social work needs funding not more tests.

We need all social workers to get involved in our campaign and stand up for social work.

3 things you can do:

1. Sign our petition at www.unison.org.uk/naas
2. Organise a workplace meeting – the campaign page might provide useful background www.unison.org.uk/standupforsocialwork
3. Join UNISON today. We can't win this without you!
Visit unison.org.uk/join

UNISON
the public service union