

VOTE YES for strike action

UNISON is calling for strike action over the poor pay offer from higher education employers.

The employers' offer of a one-year pay deal of 2% for most people or £425 (up to 2.7%), whichever is the greater, simply isn't enough.

Living costs are continuing to rise; interest rates have increased; mortgage repayments will increase; and energy suppliers will increase their prices this autumn.

VOTE YES for strike action

UNISON recommends that you vote for strike action because 2% is below inflation and we want UNISON members' pay to reflect your valuable contribution to higher education.

Every price rise bites into your wage packet. But the employers aren't going to change their minds unless we force their hand.

How much has your pay fallen?

Find out using our simple calculator at: unison.org.uk/HEPay2018

Not yet in unison? Join now and have your say on pay: joinunison.org or call 0800 0 857 857

VOTE YES for strike action for an improved pay offer

Have your say on HE pay

UNISON
Higher Education