

UNISON

the union for

housing workers

Housing workers are on the frontline of the housing crisis. The Government's unwillingness to invest in social housing and the lack of new homes for people on low incomes has made housing unaffordable for many.

Cuts have left staff overworked, under-resourced and struggling to support those in need.

UNISON understand the importance of housing professionals. We've listened to housing staff and we're working to:

- Reduce the workload of housing staff
- Address falling health and safety standards in housing services
- Tackle the increase in violence and aggression towards housing staff
- Improve your pay
- Defend your terms and conditions

UNISON
the public service union

UNISON

the union for

housing workers

Standing up for housing workers and social housing

UNISON are campaigning to protect your profession and to change the government's housing policy.

We want:

- More genuinely affordable housing
- Appropriate funding to maintain existing housing
- Housing staff to be adequately trained/equipped to do their job in a challenging and changing environment

Join UNISON – get protection and help defend housing workers

You'll also get access to:

- Legal support
- Local representatives
- Free training
- Discounts
- A helpline

Join online at joinunison.org or call 0800 0 857 857

