UNISON BLACK MEMBERS EQUALITY

DEFINING BLACK

In UNISON, 'Black' – with a capital B – is used to indicate people with a shared history. 'Black' is used in a broad political and inclusive sense to describe people in the UK who have suffered from colonialism and enslavement in the past and continue to experience racism and diminished opportunities in today's society.

DEFINING BLACK

The terms 'minority ethnic' and 'ethnic minority' are in widespread official use. But these terms have negative connotations of being marginal or less important. In many neighbourhoods, towns and cities in the UK it is statistically inaccurate or misleading to describe

Black groups as a minority.

Since the '70s the term 'Black' has been used in anti-racist campaigning in recognition of the common struggle against racism and under-representation.

Language changes and evolves but terminology is always important in terms of intention and direction. Using 'Black' is about creating unity in the fight against deeprooted racism that sees Black people disadvantaged in housing, education, employment and the criminal justice and health systems.
